THREE TEACHERS DROPPED

Members of High School Faculty Objected to by Board of Education.

REASONS ASSIGNED IN EACH CASE

One Falls Before Opposition of Church People-Work of Others Not Good-Principals, Grade and Kindergarten Teachers and Janitors Elected.

Three High school teachers were dropped by the Board of Education last evening when the teachers in the city schools for the coming year were elected.

The election of principals, janitors and grade teachers was with unanimity. But when the report of the committee on High school was read, recommending the election of all of the present teachers, a snag was struck. The motion to do with this as with the other lists, to have the secretary cast the vote of the board for the teachers named in the report, was quickly squelched Some of the members said that they had heard some adverse reports about the work of some of the teachers in the High school and did not propose to vote for them. This brought about a motion to go into executive session to ballot.

In the secret session the following teachers were elected immediately: Homer P. Lewis, principal; Irwin Leviston, L. J. Blake, George M. Turner, Decie A. Johnston, Mary E. Quackenbush, S. D. Beals, Susanna A. Walker, Belle H. Lewis, Kate N. McHugh, Maria Okey, Mary F. DeVoli, John Wigman, Mary E. Sanford, Bessle J. Snyder, Earl J. Kelsey, May Copeland, Mary A. Landis, Georgia Valentine, Elizabeth Craven, C. Belle Dinturff, Lucy J. Roys, Helen L. Lloyd, Antoinette Ogden and Vilta B. Shippey. Lewis, principal; Irwin Leviston, L. J. Misses Stacia Crowley, Ida M. Street and L. C. McGee were not elected. Warm dis-cursion was had by the board for an hour, REASONS GIVEN.

Though the memebrs were not disposed to say what occurred in executive session, one of them gave the information that the reason for dropping Misses Crowley and Street was that their work as teachers was not up to the standard required, while the cause of Miss McGee's nonelection was the opposition of a number of church people, ied by Rev. John Williams, who charged that she had spoken without respect concerning the commonly accepted doctrine of the inspiration of the bible before her pupils. It was for this that Rev. John Williams called for her dismissal last winter, Miss McGee was also accused of "stubborn. ness" and of having produced discord amona the other teachers. Laxity of discipline was also brought against all three.

In the executive session, also, Miss Fannie Arnold was re-elected director of music and Miss Ethel Evans director of drawing. Miss Alice Hitte was transferred from her position as assistant director of music and drawing to that of teacher of the eighth grade. Miss Kate M. Bradley was not re-elected director of physical culture.

action was taken regarding the reduc tion of salaries, but the following resolution was introduced in open board by Mr. Gibson

I reside at 2112 Douglas street and am accredited with having ghostly visitors and with having all kinds of supernatural manifestations at my home. I wish to state most emphatically that there is not and has not been any demonstrations of this kind either in or about this house, and any story to the contrary is absolutely and maliciously false.

It is true that a most real apparition, in the person of a well developed man, has persistently attempted to break into the house, has been seen and almost recognized. Naturally I applied to Chief Seavey to have him captured. The officers came, but the bird had flown. They say that if he will make one more appearance he will probably

This call for the police also brought a reporter, who, in my absence, interviewed the servant girl and drew on his imagination for his story. This is all there is to it. Mention was made also of an antagonism existing between certain of the heirs to this property and myself. I have no knowledge of such a condition of affairs, and as I rent the property directly from Mr. John Rush and have been treated with uniform courtesy by him I would be worse than an ingrate were I to cherish any but the kind-est feelings toward all concerned. So far as my expressing an opinion in regard to either bishop or prelate or any one else concerned in the legal controversy in regard to this property, it is the sheerest nonsense and never entered my mind, being a matter of no concern whatever to me. It is due the owners of this property as well as to myself and family that this statement be made public. Allow me to say positively that there are no ghosts at 2112 Douglas street, and let me say further that I am enjoying good health and my full share of peace of mind. Yours respectfully,

WORKINGMEN AND CANAL.

Views Expressed at a Meeting Last Night-City Ownership Urged. Owing to a mistake in the announcement, the meeting of the laboringmen called for last evening at Knights of Labor hall to discuss the canal proposition was but slimly attended. It was 9 o'clock before enough had gathered to warrant the calling of the meeting to order. The chairman called upon Sam De Nedrey for a few remarks. Mr. Nedrey was against the building of the Platte canal unless it was owned by the municipality and the labor performed by local laboringmen. A private corporation, said the speaker, would bond the canal for more than it was worth and let its contracts to the lowest bidders. Cheap labor would be imported, supplies would be shipped from the east and when the ditch was completed Omaha business and laboringmen would not be any better off than they

Will S. Poppleton was called for and responded promptly. He was in favor of the city owning the canal. A private company, said Mr. Poppleton, wants until 1898 to do the work in. Why is this? It wants time to float its bonds. It is especially hard during these times for private corporations to sell bonds and the projectors of this canal know this and hence ask for so much time. On the other hand the bonds of the county could be sold without any trouble. If a private concern could not float the bonds the canal would not be built until it could and the people would be no better off than now. The speaker was in favor, he said, of investigating the matter thoroughly, and laying it before the people in such a way that when called upon to vote on the proposition the laboringman would know just what he was voting for. This, said Mr. Poppleton, is a strong city and its people do not need to rush in and grasp at a straw in order to save themselves. David Patterson said that Poppleton had declared last fall that he was opposed to municipal ownership of the canal and it was only last week that Mr. Poppleton declared that he was not in favor of the canal at all. These statements were denied by Mr. Pop-pleton, and then Mr. Patterson told why he was in favor of the canal, but he, like others, wanted Omaha business and laboring men to benefit by the building of the ditch. NUMBER OF INTERESTING PROGRAMS

The public schools of the city practically closed the year's work Thursday afternoon, although a session was held yesterday morning, at which the desks were cleared, the books, pens, pencils and papers packed away, after which the teachers bade adleu to their pupils until the opening of the fall term.

Thursday afternoon both teachers and pupils were in attendance, clothed in holiday attire, and at every school in the city the class day exercises were held, the little ones graduating from the rooms where they had studied during the year which has just closed. In all of the schools appropriate programs had been prepared and were carried out to the letter. At the Lake school the program was as follows:

Night in Granada... Second Infantry Band Fisher Song-Class 'H... Eighth Grade Trip, Trip.............. School Instrumental Solo... Mrs. H. P. Whitmore Instrumental Solo Mrs. H. P. Whitmore
Huntsman's Chorus Achool
Mill Dam Galop Banje and Guitar Club
Lullaby Eighth Grade
To the Stars Second Infantry Band
Fairyland Waltz School
Zither Solo Mr Gsanter '95
Solo Miss Fannie Arnold
Address to Class Major Halford
Shepherd's Sunday Song Second Infantry Band
America School

Completing the indoor work, all of the pupils were marshalled in the corridors and upon the command being given, with a sol-dierly tread the 800 boys and girls marched down the stairs, through the balls and out of the south entrance of the building, keeping step to the music of the Second Infantry band. The sending of the band was a pleasant surprise to Miss Whitmore, the principal, and her associates, as they knew nothing of the coming of the boys in blue until they marched up to the building and serenaded the school.

Last Arbor day Miss Whitmore made an attempt to secure the services of the band for the day, but on account of some previous engagement she was not successful, although she was assured by the headquarters officers that a concert would be given at the school at some later date. There the matter was dropped and nothing more thought of it until Thursday, when she was so pleasantly sur-prised by being afforded an opportunity of having the little ones under her charge listen

After the school had marched and countermarched in forming upon the grounds the many columns of children were halted in a hollow square around the graduating class, which stood in the shade of the class tree, of which the thirty boys and girls who pass from the Lake to the High school feel so proud. At that point the following exer-

BURIAL OF CLASS BOX.

The program, while complete, fails to tell the interesting features of the outdoor exercises, which were witnessed by hundreds of admiring parents yesterday afternoon. A burial of a class box is a sad interment and as the one at the Lake school was consigned to the moist earth at the foot of the waving maple, around which the school had gathered, there were many moist eyes notice able. The burying of this little trifle re-minded the parents that their children had passed through the primary grades of the Omaha schools and that they were no longer the little ones which they were a few years ago. The burying of the box reminded the teachers who had watched the progress of the young hopefuls as they passed from grade o grade that they were leaving them for ever, and that instead of seeing their bright young faces on the play grounds, in the class, the recitation and the assembly rooms again, they were gone, leaving only remem brances of the past.

The box, which was a cedar chest, six by en inches, contained the names of the mem bers of the class, the names of the teachers of the school, the names of the members of the Board of Education, the name of the superintendent of the city schools and the history of the class from the day when the members first appeared on the ground in kilts and short dresses until the close of Thursday's exercises. When this box had been securely locked the key was lost in a unique and most original manner. A pigeon had been caught and to one of its legs the key was fastened, after which it was re-leased, to wing its flight to some distant and unknown place. Then the little chest con-taining the valuables was covered with earth and hid from sight, there to remain until the ending of time. While this part of the program interested the spectators it was not received with the appreciation that the presentation of flowers to the graduating class made manifest.

Thirty little tots from the kindergarten the lowest division of the school, marche through the lines, and, armed with beautiful bouquets of roses and cut flowers, presented them to the members of the graduating class, who received them with the grace of so many accomplished actors of the stage.

AT KELLOM SCHOOL. Twenty-two pupils bade farewell to Miss Lucas and the Kellom school yesterday after-noon. Most of the number will enter the high school, the entire eighth grade having passed the examination with credit. Many friends were present to listen to the exercises. The following program was given:

The program was taken up chiefly with a symposium on "Julius Caesar."

The papers were well read, as were also the speeches. The delivery of Antony's speech by Georgia Haislip was exceptionally praise-The class prophecy and valedictory were well written and were often times amusing and frequently set the class in a roar at some hit. Miss Arnold, as usual, was compelled to respond to an encore. Miss Bradley led her class through the calisthenic drill and wound up the program with a very graceful pantomime to the music of "Suance River." She also had to respond to an encore. The address of Mrs. Peattle was an urgent plea to the members of the class to continue their education. Many people, she said, would deeducation and preciate further that it would not bring success. In the present sense of the word, the amassing of wealth, it would not, but in the true sense of bringing happiness it would. If one has brains enough he should get as much education as possible.

The programs was arranged and directed by Miss Lucas, the teacher of the graduat-Closing Exercises in Subordinate Schools of the City Thursday.

by Miss Class.

At Lincoln school on Wednesday from 10 to 12, a most enjoyable reception was given by the teachers and pupils.

The entire building was decorated pro-fusely with drawings, cuttings, pastings, flowers, ferns and palms. Added to this were the sweet faces of the children. Crowds of interested patrons and other citizens thronged the building, and many were the expressions of pleasure and sur-prise at the remarkable manner in which the programs in the various rooms were rendered. The pupils of this school petitioned the Board of Education in January to change the name of their new building from Center to Lincoln. This the board did, thereby instilling into the minds of the children a lesson in patriotism which will never be for-AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA.

High School Graduating Exercises-Three Young Women Get Diplomas. High school commencement exercises were held at the Methodist church last evening. The graduates were Maude E. Thomas, Gypsie B. Alexander and Grace M. Row-

The platform was decorated with ferns and flowers, which hid the railing from view. The salulatory was delivered by Miss Rowland. The hardest knowledge, she said, was yet to be acquired-that coming from personal experience.

"Our Nation's Progress in Education," was the theme of an oration by Miss Alexander. Sketching American educational history, she summed up by saying: "True education consists in drawing out and employing every faculty of the human being. Mental without physical education unbalances the whole and is a failure. No young man's or woman's faculties can be educationally drawn upon to any advantage unless they are guided by the precepts of morality and Christianity. Every crime is a criticism on the education of the criminal. A thorough education is a man's fortune. Coeducation tends to an elevation of the social relations between the two sexes."

The High school choir, consisting of fourteen girls and four boys, sang "Foresters, Sound the Cheerful Horn," beautifully, and were followed by Miss Maude Thomas in a delightfully unique and entertaining soliloquy, in which, representing herself as electricity, she gave a comprehensive record of the career of that potent factor in modern civilization. At the most interesting points in the soliloguy scores of little incandescent bulbs, hilden in the folds of the green veil that covered her form, shone out with a brilliancy that made her appear like some fairy queen.

Four pretty little maidens sang Sweetheart," when Miss Grace M. Rowland gave an accomplished and well informed essay on the origin, growth and existing principles of political economy, in which she predicted that future discoveries in this great science would, in a great measure radicate many of the existing ills in so-"The Angelus" was the solo in which Miss Jean Boyd Mullen displayed her musical gifts to the delight of all. Miss Gypsie Alexander then delivered a pleasing valedictory. Diplomas were presented by President Cheek of the Board of Education.

A Lady Tells a Very Graphic Story

WHAT SHE WENT THROUGH

There is a Nice and Profitable Lesson for Other Ludies In Her Experience.

I know a lady, and a very charming person, who has had a very trying experience. Like so many ladles who have peculiar pains which they often do not understand, occasional headaches, loss of appetite, blues, bearing down sensations and such troubles, she thought she was only suffer-ing from a cold, which perhaps would pass away very soon, and so it did, but it re-turned in a short time even worse than be-fore. In this way she lived along for nearly a year, when she suddenly discovered that she was suffering from that greatest of modern scourges, Bright's disease of the kidneys. Now, the great trouble with her, as with so many other men and women, was that she did not know what ailed her. Here is what she says, in her own words: "Despite the attendance of skilled physicians, my illness increased, and they stated that another attack of my malady would most assuredly prove fatal. It was at this time, at the solicitation of friends, that I decided to try a remedy of which I had heard much and knew but little. I confess I had little faith because I thought that I was doomed, but almost immediately I felt an improvement, which continued until I was finally restored to perfect health, and I feel that I owe my life entirely to the use of Warner's Safe Cure, which alone took me from the depths of misery and restored me to heaith. Now, whenever I feel as though any of the symptoms I then had are returning, I take some of the Safe Cure, and immediately feel better; and I must say that I now feel as well as in my girlhood, and it is entirely due to this

These are the words of Mrs. J. F. Beale, who resides at 363 Lexington avenue, New York. Hers is not an isolated experience. It is precisely what hundreds of other ladies have found true in their lives. It shows that if women continue to suffer and let the trials of life weigh them down when they should be joyful, they have only themselves to blame. There is a means of relief; of restoration. It is pure; it is safe; it is a woman's best friend. By its use she can be enabled to withstand the ills of life and secure both health and happiness.

Art in Furniture.

Among our late studies in old French furniture is this Chiffonnier with its double swell front and its antique prow like supports to the mirror.

It makes a very beautiful plece of furni ture executed in bird's eye maple or curly birch, and with trimmings of polished brass in Eighteenth Century designs. These 1894 patterns mean nothing until all designed in the early days of the busi-ness depression when low price was the first and last consideration. They are simply "Studies in Economy," and such values may not reappear in the furniture business in the next half dozen years.

CHOCOLAT MENIER

Wise says Drink

Chocolat - Menier.

His reasons are: Tea and Coffee create nervousness with a people too nervous already;
Bitter Chocolates are not fit to make a cup of chocolate; cheap (sweet) chocolates are mpure, hence injurious; COCOA is no more like CHOCOLATE than Skimmed Milk is like Cream. Chocolat-Menier is an exquisite Vanilla Chocolate, as nourishing as meat, as low priced as other beverages, and far superior. Ask for yellow wrapper. Your grocer has it. PARIS MENIER LONDON 49 Wabash Av., Chicago—86 W. Broadway, N. Y. CHARLES ST. PARK

OMAHA Rock Island.

Every house that is plastered on wood lath is a fire trap, and consequently a death trap. The interior wood work under the drying effects of artificial heat becomes as inflamable as tinder, needing only a spark to flash the fire from cellar to roof with frequent resulting loss of life.

Expanded Metal Steel Lath when covered with its coating of mortar the best known fire proof material) insures safety and costs but little in excess of wood. It provents cracking and falling of plaster.

Adopted for all U. S. Government Buildings and its use, obligitory in all Hotels, Theaters, Asylums, Hospitals and School Houses in Chicago and other large cities. Write for catalogue of lathing, fencing, etc.
